You review the personalised proposal before paying. If you continue, we confirm the project and you make the payment; we then apply the agreed adjustments.

Included in the pack

- Design and development of a personalised website adapted to phones, tablets and computers.
- A digital menu organised into categories, with names, descriptions and prices supplied by the restaurant.
- Authorised photographs, restaurant information, opening hours, location and contact details.
- Contact and reservation requests by email; social media links.
- Domain, hosting and SSL certificate included during the first year.
- Website publication, support and minor adjustments.

Materials and first draft

The restaurant supplies its information, menu, available authorised photographs, opening hours, contact channels, social profiles and presentation preferences. An existing domain or website is identified so its setup can be reviewed.

The first draft has an indicative timeframe of 24–48 hours once all required materials have been received and validated. Publication is scheduled after the final version has been reviewed and approved.

Review and publication

The client reviews the draft and can request the necessary minor adjustments. When communicating a change, identify the item and supply the replacement text, price or image.

Before publication, the menu, restaurant details, images, links, contact channels and presentation on different screen sizes are reviewed. The website is published after final approval.

Ongoing support

Maintenance and support for minor updates to existing content are included without a time limit or additional recurring fee.

Full redesigns, additional languages, new functionality, external integrations and changes of scope require a separate quotation. Email reservation requests need confirmation by the restaurant.
